The Centre for Gender Studies is a multi-disciplinary centre for deconstruction and instruction. Working together with other departments within the University and a network of gender scholars beyond, the Centre accomplishes notable research and teaching on a broad spectrum of approaches to understanding gender about the human subject.

The Centre aims to increase our capacity for rigorous gender analysis and to promote awareness of its relevance in historic, economic, political, artistic, social, and scientific contexts. As such, we welcome inquiry from multiple and overlapping perspectives including (but not limited to) various forms of feminist theory, lesbian and gay studies, queer theory, transgender/trans* theory, and critical sexuality studies. We aim to push across the boundaries of disciplines and dispositions to promote ambitious and ground-breaking work that can build on the strengths of research across Galgotias University and to deeply engage with the complexities of studying gender in our society.

The Centre runs high profile symposia, public lectures and research seminars.
