FEEDBACK FORM (STUDENT)

Instructions:

The university aims to offer the best possible environment and learning experience to encourage the students to perform to their full potential. Students play a critical part in their evaluation, development and enhancement of the quality of this learning experience. Feedback from students allows the university to evaluate how its service provision is viewed by its most important group of stakeholders, namely the students. If you are interested in helping out your teacher and in turn help yourself, take the time to leave constructive feedback. There are some questions for which you may need to provide written feedback.

Suggestions:

1. Be specific. The more specific you are about what you liked and did not, the more helpful your feedback will be. Instead of writing, "I hated the reading list," write, "The book by ABC was very confusing and unorganized, and I didn't think it related well to the course material."
2. Offer suggestions. Tell your teacher specifically how to change something. Instead of writing, "The Power Point slides were useless," write, "Could you please put less information on each Power Point slide, and use a bigger font?"
3. Explain what you liked about the class. Teachers always like getting comments like, "Your class was wonderful!" However, it would be more helpful to explain specifically what you liked about the class so he can continue doing these things.
4. Be nice. For a teacher, it's extremely hurtful to receive nasty comments. Honesty is important, but there's no need to be mean.
5. Thank your teacher for the great class. If you enjoyed the class, thank your teacher. This is one of the nicest things a student can say to a teacher.

Survey Questionnaire:

The purpose of this form is to allow you to give ideas to the teacher about how the teaching-learning might be improved. You are encouraged to add your comments and suggestions on the back of this survey.
