

Disclaimer

Galgotias Journal of Legal Studies is committed to publish original and unpublished material to maintain the integrity of the legal research. We do not claim ownership of any content, submitted by authors hence we are not responsible for their content, accuracy or compliance with relevant laws or regulations. If any article contains elements of plagiarism, neither the editors nor the publisher will be responsible for it since we publish on the faith that the views expressed in the articles are of the authors and the journal bear no responsibility about its genuineness. Neither the editors, nor the publisher can accept any legal responsibility for any errors or omissions that may be made. The publisher makes no warranty, express or implied, with respect to the material contained herein.