Who do you want to be?
Why study Law

What is common among Abraham Lincoln, Margaret Thatcher, Benazir Bhutto, Barack Obama, Vladimir Putin and Mahatma Gandhi? Interestingly, they are world leaders who studied law, fiercely shaped their nation and served people. One of the oldest academic fields in the world, a Law degree is a highly regarded professional qualification and promises great career opportunities. For some, to study law is to uphold justice, a noble profession to render free legal service and legal aid to poor and downtrodden; nevertheless, law is not just for lawyers or in the courtroom as it affects all aspects of society; from the protection of life and liberty to corporate or international relations, law graduates are capable of doing many important roles in various professions....a lawyer is a social engineer.

Ms. Priyanka Maurya is an Alumna of B.B.A. LL.B. (Hons.) Programme, batch 2014-2019 at the School of Law, Galgotias University.

She is currently working as an Assistant Legal Adviser at Oil & Natural Gas Corporation, Surat, Gujrat.

Her law school journey has been a mix of academic and curricular activities. She has always been good at academics and received scholarship for 5 years course by the Hon’ble Chancellor of Galgotias University.

Along with academics, she has actively participated in National Level Competitions and won 1st prize in the Banasthali National Moot Court Competition in the year 2018. She even bagged the title of Ms. International Law at Delhi University International Law Quiz Competition 2018.

After completing the five years integrated course at the School of Law, she decided to pursue LL.M. and appeared for the various entrance examination organized by CLAT, South Asian University, IIT Kharagpur and NLU Delhi. She was filled with immense happiness as she cleared all the entrance examinations with good rank. She was even appreciated by the Hon’ble Chancellor and Hon’ble Vice-Chancellor of Galgotias University for her efforts. She opted for the LL.M. Course at SAU as they offered specialization in International Law, which has been her area of interest. She even received scholarship for securing 3rd position in Asia.

But the almighty had something else planned for her as she scored AIR 6 in the CLAT Entrance Examination. She was over whelmed when I received a call for job interview at ONGC, India’s biggest Maharatn company on the basis of CLAT ranking. She secured the job position as Assistant Legal Adviser with an initial package of 21 Lakhs at ONGC. She has been working in ONGC since November 2019.

Mr. Pranshu Kaushal is an Alumnus of School of Law, Galgotias University, currently practicing as an Advocate at the Hon’ble Supreme Court of India. He has earlier worked as an Assistant Professor at the University of Petroleum and Energy Studies, Dehradun, India.

He holds an LL.M. Degree in Comparative Law - Business and Corporate from the University of San Diego, California, the United States.

He is practicing law before the Hon’ble Supreme Court of India and started career in Advocacy by associating with the chamber of a Senior Advocate.

What he has found since he joined this profession in 2018, that it is always an excellent aspiration to practice before the Hon’ble Supreme Court of India but it is equally wiser to begin ones advocacy career with the knowledge and familiarity of the work that is being done by Advocates practicing at the levels of District Court and the High Court.

“When I went to argue in a matter for the first time before the Hon’ble Supreme Court of India, whatever I received, learnt, grasped and developed during my training in the law schools to which I have been, during the apprenticeship, during the conferences I attended, everything in some way or the other was a recollection of thought which boosted my confidence as an Advocate.”

“Galgotias School of Law is something that I miss even today. The dedication of the faculty members, the acceptance and assistance of the librarians, and the quest for excellence were some of the traits of this law school.”
