BAL/BBL-512	Jurisprudence	L	T	P	C
Version1.1	July 2017	4	1	0	5
Pre-requisites//Exposure	Legal History, Constitution of India
co-requisites	Transfer of Property Act

1.0 Course Objectives

The main objects of the course is-

- To analyse, explain understand and classify the law.
- To compare and contrast law with other field of knowledge.
- To reveal the conceptual and theoretical part.

2.0 Course Outcome

At the end of completion of this course the students will be equipped following learning:

- This course will also give understanding of jurisprudence of property, liability and ownership.
- Students will come to know the reasons of difference in various thinkers and its current relevancy.
- Students would also be able to identify the acceptance and use of theories by judiciary in India.

3.0 Catalogue Description

This course in jurisprudence explores central aspects of the role of law in modern society. Jurisprudence may be considered to be the study and systematic arrangement of the general principles of law. Jurisprudence is mother of all. A course in jurisprudence should, primarily, induct the students into a realm of questions concerning law so that he is able to live with their perplexity or complexity and is driven to seek out answers for himself. It may not be possible that one year jurisprudence course can impart knowledge of doctrines about law and justice, developed over the years, in various nations and historical situations. At best an undergraduate course should impart the analytical skills and equip the student with the basic problems concerning law and the types of solutions sought. Since a basic idea in the designing of this course is to bring jurisprudence closer to our reality, in the selection of cases and reading materials the teacher should try to make use of the Indian material as far as possible.

Course Outline

Course Title: Law of Evidence
Programme: BALLB/BBALLB/LLB

Semester: V/III
Course Code: BBL/BAL 514

1. Course Objectives

The entire adjudication process depends on the appreciation of evidence by the Court. The counsel has to play a vital role in making a piece of evidence admissible in the court of Law and he can only be successful if he is able to introduce a piece of evidence in the given framework under the Indian Evidence Act 1872. Learning of the concepts and principles of law of Evidence will enable the students to appreciate any forms of evidence produced before the court.

2. Course Outcomes

At the end of the course the students will be able to

1. Recognize evidence that is admissible before the court of law
2. Understand the difference between admissible and inadmissible evidence
3. Understand the concepts of Burden of proof and Estoppel
4. Apply legal provisions to the problem in front of them with regards to admissibility of evidence

3. Catalogue Description

The law of evidence is an indispensable part of both substantive and procedural laws. It imparts credibility to the adjudicatory process by indicating the degree of veracity to be attributed to 'facts' before the forum. This paper enables the student to appreciate the concepts and principles underlying the law of evidence and identify the recognized forms of evidence and its sources. The subject seeks to impart to the student the skills of examination and appreciation of oral and documentary evidence in order to find out the truth. The art of

Catalog Description

As our constitution of India envisaged a social order free from any kind of exploitation and assuring an equal opportunity to everyone in this country. This constitutional goal completely transformed and revolutionized the function of state. The state has started interfering in the day to day life of citizens at every point of time in the name of development of the country therefore need was felt to control the un-ruling activities of the state. That need actually brought the administrative law into existence, to regulate the functioning of the state. This branch of law consist the concept of rule of law, separation of power etc. Rule of law requires the administration of justice which shall be provided by following the principles of natural justice i.e. no man should be left unheard and no one can be judge in his own case. It also establishes the administrative Tribunals to adjudicate the dispute in order to provide justice by adhering the principles of natural justice and using administrative discretion.

criminal justice system emerges from the premise of presumption of innocence of accused undergoing trial, right of the accused to know accusation against him right from initiation of investigation till filling of challan/chargesheet, taking of cognizance, and framing of charge under judicial Process. Subjecting him to defend the charges during trial wherein trial process and evidence adduced are taken in his presence and understanding. The entire process is conducted in open court with right to appeal and approach the highest court of this land. Thus trilogy of the investigation, inquiry and trial under the Criminal procedure Code is directed towards fair and equitable remedy to the victim and the adequate protection to accused to prove his innocence.

Cases:

- S. K. Sheshadri v. HAL and others, (1983) II LLJ 410 (Karnataka High Court) – relates to S.3 – the validity of the Standing Order which made lending in the company premises a misconduct was challenged as violative of Article 14 of the Constitution of India. The said standing order was held not to be discriminatory. It was further held that as long as the standing order falls within the schedule to the Act, they would not be invalid or ultra vires because they contain additional provision not provided in the model standing order.

- Rohtak and Hisar District Supply Corporation Ltd. v. State of UP, AIR 1966 SC 1471 – this case relates under Section 4 – SC held that the employer cannot insist upon adding a condition to the standing order which relates to the matter which is not included in the schedule.
- Buckingham and Carnatic Corp. Ltd. v. Venkatiah, (1963) II LLJ 638 (SC) – relates to S.6 – abandonment or relinquishment of service is always a question of intention and normally such an intention cannot be attributed to an employee without adequate evidence but where the parties agree upon the terms and conditions of service and they are included in certified standing order, the doctrine of common law would not be relevant, it would then be matter of construing the relevant term of standing order.
- Agra Electricity Supply Corp. Ltd. v. Alladin, AIR 1970 SC 512 – it relates to the date of operation of standing order - The standing order certified by the certifying officer shall unless and until appeal is preferred comes into operation on expiry of 30 days from the date on which authenticated copies are sent, if an appeal is preferred it shall come into operation on expiry of 7 days from date on which copies of order of appellate authority are sent.
- M. P. Vidyut Karamchari Sang v. MP Electricity Board, 2004 SC – relates to the validity of the Act upon the agreement which is not notified by the State govt. and the question is whether an agreement despite expiry would prevail over a regulation made under Section 79(c) of the Electricity (Supply) Act, 1948 as regard the age of superannuation of an employee of the Respondent-Board is the primal question involved. The power of the Board, therefore, to lay down the conditions of service of its employees either in terms of regulation or otherwise would be subject only to any valid law to the contrary operating in the field. Agreement within the meaning of proviso appended to Rule 14A is not a law and, thus, the regulations made by the Board shall prevail thereover. The Board has power to make regulations which having regard to the provisions of General Clauses Act would mean that they can make such regulations from time to time. Alterations in the age of retirement by the employer is a matter of executive policy and for sufficient and cogent reasons, the same is permissible.

- Jabalpur Development Authority v. Sharad Shrivastava, (2005) I LLJ 304 (MP HC) – the employee who is working from the last 12 years whether he is a permanent or temporary employee? HC held that an employee cannot be called a temporary employee after rendering more than 12 years of service, otherwise it would be arbitrary.
- Falcon Tyres Ltd. v. Falcon Tyres Employees Union, Mysore, 2005 III CLR 95 (Kant HC) – the certifying officer has certified model standing order which provides for discharging an employee on medical grounds. However, the appellate authority modified the same to the effect that management should create alternative job and to protect his salary last drawn. This modification was challenged by the company. The modification cannot be termed reasonable. Employer cannot be compelled to create alternative suitable job. Ends of justice would be met if employer is directed to consider case of employee systematically and to give him alternative stable job, if available.

3. Apply the knowledge of the provisions of direct to various situation in actual practice

Catalog Description

Power to tax had been described as the power to destroy. This idea is being floated often whenever the state introduces a new tax. In order to raise revenue and place the economy on solid foundation, it is necessary that the taxing power should be conferred on the state. The power to tax shall not go unregulated. In the context of a federal structure the distribution of the taxing powers assumes added significance. A study of the constitutional framework on taxation is also important for all these abovementioned reasons. Along with this, this course aims at an analysis of the different laws enacted in exercise of these powers with their safeguards and remedies sheds light on the mechanics of the taxation by the Union and the States.

Law relating to intellectual property intends protection for human creativity as well as recognition of non tangible property. 'Intellectual Property' is a generic term that came into regular use during the twentieth century. This generic label is used to refer to a group of legal regimes, each of which confers rights of ownership in a particular subject matter. Copyright, patents, designs, trademarks and protection against unfair competition form the traditional core of intellectual property. The subject matter of these rights is disparate. Inventions, literary works, artistic works, designs and trademarks formed the subject matter of early intellectual property law. One striking feature of intellectual property is that, despite its early historical links to the idea of monopoly and privilege, the scope of its subject matter continues to expand. The twentieth century has seen new or existing subject matter added to present intellectual property systems (for example, the protection of computer software as part of copyright, the patentability of micro-organisms as part of patent law), and new systems created to protect existing or new subject matter (for example, plant variety protection and circuit layouts). The strongly expansionary nature of intellectual property systems shows no sign of changing. Internationally, for example, special legal protection for databases remains part of the work program of the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO).

On completion of this course, the students will be able to

1. Apply knowledge of perspectives/approaches in regard to the multilateral regulation of international trade relations
2. Understand the rules governing the WTO regime in facilitating trade and the dispute settlement mechanism
3. Understand the various forms of international sales contract and their application

Catalogue Description

International trade is a complicated area of law because there are numerous levels of trade organizations and interactions. There are bilateral trade agreements, regional trade agreements and multilateral trade agreements. Each of these agreements has its own history, policies and dispute settlement procedures. This course will deal with the law relating to WTO, regional trade agreements on international trade, dispute settlement mechanisms, and international sales. Apart from the relevant Indian laws, the focus will be mainly upon the international legal conventions and Indian legal system in these areas. As this sect of Law consists of a mix of public international law and domestic/national law, applicable to commercial transactions, other related enactments will also be discussed in detail.

MODULE – 1 - Introduction

Concept and Definition of Media;

Different forms of Media (Print media; Broadcast media; Social media);

Dean School of Law
Galgotias University
Uttar Pradesh

Mass media such as press, radio and television, films, play a vital role in socialization, culturalisation and modernization of a society. The visual media are bound to have a much greater impact on human mind. But while these media have such a potential value as men educators, they are also susceptible to destructive and harmful uses for promoting criminal anti-social and selfish escapist tendencies. While their positive potential as mass educators has to be harnessed for developmental purposes, their negative, harmful potential has to be curbed in public interest. Law plays a dual role vis-a-vis such media. On the one hand, it protects the creative freedom involved in them, on the other; it has to regulate them so as to avoid their possible abuse. This paper will deal with such interaction between law and mass media. It aims to familiarize the theoretical debates on media, law and ethics in the Indian context. It also attempts to evolve an understanding of the complexities of ethical and legal media practice.

3. Catalog Description

This course introduces the fundamental tools of the legal profession by focusing on legal analysis, predictive and persuasive legal writing skills, and legal citation as an introductory course among the legal skills classes at the school of law. It will give an overview of the legal writing from an office memorandum through a brief to academic legal writing as well as professional letters etc. For example, students will work on objective issue statements and persuasive questions presented, objective and persuasive fact statements, and the large-scale organization of the discussion sections of research memos and the argument sections of briefs. Throughout the course, students will refine knowledge of writing mechanics and improve ability to write clearly, precisely, forcefully, and persuasively.

Attendance and participation are required. Students are encouraged to participate as fully as possible in the classroom discussion. The course grade is based on the writing project. This project is designed to give students the opportunity to show that students have mastered all the writing principles and skills covered in the course. To pass the course, students must not exhibit any serious writing deficiencies in the project. To do well in the class, students must show mastery of the techniques and skills covered. All assignments are mandatory and must be turned in on time. All assignments must be turned in via email no later than 5 p.m. on the due date. Formal assignments must be attached as a word document in a format compatible with Microsoft Word 2010. Plagiarism is the theft of someone else's ideas and work. All work is expected to be the student's own original work. Students must take great care to distinguish their own ideas and language and language from information derived from sources. Collaboration on assignments is prohibited unless explicitly permitted by the instructor. When collaboration is permitted, students must acknowledge all collaboration and its extent in all submitted work.

Catalog Description

Public international law concerns the structure and conduct of sovereign states; analogous entities, and intergovernmental organizations. International law also may affect multinational corporations and individuals, an impact increasingly evolving beyond domestic legal interpretation and enforcement. Public international law has increased in use and importance vastly over the twentieth century, due to the increase in global trade, environmental deterioration on a worldwide scale, awareness of human rights violations, rapid and vast increases in international transportation and a boom in global communications. The field of study combines two main branches: the law of nations (jus gentium) and international agreements and conventions (jus inter gentes), which have different foundations and should not be

Catalog Description

"Alternative dispute resolution" (ADR) is a part of Clinical Legal Education. ADR is a term generally used to refer to informal dispute resolution processes in which the parties meet with a neutral third party who helps them resolve their dispute in an informal and more consensual manner than is done in the courts. The most common forms of ADRs are arbitration, mediation, conciliation, negotiation, judicial settlement, Early Neutral Evaluation, fact-finding, ombudsmen, etc. Though often voluntary, courts makes some of the ADRs mandatory in certain cases in order to see the feasibility of opting ADR methods for the resolution of disputes.

The major concern of law is conflict resolution. Familiarization with the modalities and techniques of resolution of conflict is a necessary component in the endeavors of developing expertise in decision making. The traditional justice delivery system through adjudication by courts had already given way to a large extent to various alternative dispute resolution mechanisms in the common law countries. The advent of globalization has enthused this transformation everywhere. The study of ADR is highly significant in molding the students of law to act as soldiers of justice in the ever changing socio-economic scenario. The course aims to give the students an insight into the processes of arbitration, conciliation and mediation in areas where the traditional judicial system had its sway in the past and in the new areas of conflicts that demand resolution by alternative methods. No doubt, the course has to be taught with comparative and international perspectives with a view to bringing out the essential awareness of the national and international systems emerging at the present context.

At present approximately 3 crores cases are pending in various courts in India. The purpose of introducing ADR in the justice delivery system is not to replace the tradition litigation but to supplement it. The need of the hour is to sensitize people about the effectiveness of ADR Methods in conflict resolution and to prepare a large pool of trained professionals in the field of ADR who will be able to practice these ADR Methods to resolve disputes and to have regulatory mechanism to control the whole process.

Catalogue Description:

Infrastructure means the basic structure or facilities and capital equipment that provide the framework needed for the functioning of a country. Generally, infrastructure refers to roads, airports and other utilities. For the progress of any nation both economic and social infrastructure development plays a vital role. The Government of India has initiated different policies to develop a world class infrastructure. In India, six areas have been taken up as core or infrastructural sectors, namely, Roads and Highways, Railways, Ports, Civil Aviation, Energy and Telecommunication. There are respective ministries governing these areas of infrastructure to ensure development of world class standards. Each area of infrastructure is regulated by certain laws. The Committee on Infrastructure was constituted on 31st August, 2004 under the Chairmanship of the Prime Minister of India with the objectives of initiating policies that would ensure time-bound creation of world class infrastructure delivering services matching international standards, developing structures that maximize the role of public-private partnerships and monitoring progress of key infrastructure projects to ensure that established targets are realized.

Infrastructure is the foundation on which the fort of economic success is built. It is like mother to any economy which not only ensures the evolution of it but also ensures consistency in its growth. India has consistent focus on Infrastructure growth. India is posed to embark on new journey of economic liberalization and revolutionary growth. The back-bone of economic development, i.e. Infrastructure, has been put in to focus and the aggressiveness of Government to attain the best of it is evident from its committed efforts in this direction. Attribution of exclusive position in the list of top economies of the world in recently published “Goldman Sachs Report: Dreaming with BRICs: The path to 2050”, the expectations and aspirations both are touching new high in India.

Catalog Description

Law relating to intellectual property intends protection for human creativity as well as recognition of non tangible property. Trademark plays an essential role in protecting consumers and in promoting global economic growth. It enables consumers to make quick, confident and safe purchasing decisions and promotes freedom of choice. Trademarks and related intellectual property encourage vibrant competition for the benefit of consumers, workers, brand owners and society at large. The value of trademarks has been demonstrated through various brand rankings and in recent studies conducted in the United States and the European Union and by the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO). A registered trademark gives its proprietor the exclusive right to use that trademark for the registered category of goods or services. For example, a pharmaceutical company selling a medicine in the market under a trademarked name or brand would be protected from other companies selling medicines under the same name or brand. Similarly, an institution providing educational services under its trademarked name or logo would be able to prevent anyone else from taking advantage of the institution's reputation by marketing similar services under the same name or logo. The importance of having a registered trademark was highlighted recently when a Chinese court held that the "iPad" trademark does not belong to Apple Inc.
