Description (min 250 to max 800 words)*

The Department of Electrical, Electronics & Communication Engineering (DEECE), Galgotias University, successfully organized an One-Day Online Seminar on Intellectual Property Rights (IPR) to provide valuable insights into patents, copyrights, trademarks, designs, and the practical aspects of protecting intellectual property. The Seminar aimed to gain practical knowledge and a deeper appreciation of the importance of IPR in academia, research, industry, and entrepreneurship through engaging and interactive learning sessions.

The resource person for the workshop was Mrs. Pooja Kumar, Founder and Director of Innove Intellects LLP, a Registered Patent Agent, Government-accredited Startup Facilitator, and an accomplished IP Expert and Mentor. Mrs. Pooja delivered an insightful and engaging session with valuable knowledge, practical examples, and guidance on Intellectual Property Rights have enriched all of us and inspired participants to understand the importance of protecting innovation and creativity.

The Seminar provided an excellent platform for participants to create awareness among students, faculty members, researchers, and innovators about the importance of Intellectual Property Rights, including patents, copyrights, trademarks, industrial designs, and the protection of innovative ideas. The programme concluded with an interactive discussion, during which participants shared their learning experiences and clarified their queries with the resource person. The Department of Electrical, Electronics & Communication Engineering expressed its sincere gratitude to Mrs. Pooja Kumar for her valuable contribution and inspiring session. The workshop was highly successful in promoting effective knowledge, and importance of IPR among the participants.
